USING THE ELECTRIC SHAVER

This shaver is recommended for use on the legs, underarms, bikini line, etc. Before use, check the shaving head for damage. If signs of wear or damage are evident, do not use the shaver as injury may occur. It is not necessary to press hard when shaving your legs, underarms, or bikini line. Too much pressure while shaving may cause skin irritation, and the shaver will not function properly. For wet shaving, a thin layer of soap or shaving cream may be applied to the skin before shaving, but it is not recommended. Skin should be clean for dry shaving.

CLEANING

Always clean the device with the power turned OFF. You can expose the device to running water for cleaning, but it should never be completely submerged. The blade assembly can be pulled from the unit and rinsed under running water (fig. 3). Both the blade assembly and area around the blades should also be wiped clean with a soft, dry cloth. For the best performance, we suggest lightly oiling the shaving head from time to time by spreading a drop of mineral oil over the foil and trimmers.
